TAFT NEARLY STRUCK BY TRAIN

Express Dashes Around Curve Unexpectedly—Escort Halts, One Thrown From Horse.

New York, May 9.—President Taft experienced a narrow escape from possible death in Passaic, N. J., at 6 o'clock tonight.

At the Ayerigg avenue crossing of the Erie Railroad a westbound express train, hidden by trees until it was almost upon the presidential party, which was in automobiles, escorted by state cavalry and mounted police, dashed around a curve missing by less than twenty feet the automobile in which the president rode. The train appeared so unexpectedly that part of the president's mounted escort was unable to cross the track.

Workmen Find Old Coin.

Christiania, May 9.—The Archaeological Museum here today received a valuable and interesting gift consisting of 900 Norwegian silver coins of the epoch of Erik Magnusson in the thirteenth century. The coins which are all alike and are in an excellent state of preservation, were found by some workmen while digging in a vacant field at Bergen.

BOOSTERS WELCOMED IN ADA

Well Pleased With Reception—City Schools Join in Demonstrations.

The Oklahoma City Business men have come and gone bearing with them good impressions of Ada and her hospitality as well as business prospects.

At nine o'clock this morning the long special bringing these representatives of Oklahoma City's business interest pulled up at the Frisco. The passengers were given a most hearty greeting not only by the business men but also by over six hundred public school children who sang their patriotic songs as only children can sing.

No sooner than the train had stopped the boosters were mixing with the crowd, shaking hands, and distributing literature.

Seeing the magnitude of the assembly which had given them welcome and especially the large number of school boys and girls, a great many were heard to exclaim: "This is great for Ada, isn't it? This is a good showing for this place. I like this," and similar expressions of appreciation.

The little girls who pinned the badges on the travelers did some good work quickly and nicely but were disappointed in not having a sufficient number of badges at hand to go entirely around.

The visitors following their band marched up Broadway to the City Hall and returned the same way, stopping between the Rollow building and the First National Bank. Here as the procession halted Dr. Geo. H. Bradford, chancellor of the Epworth University, mounting a water wagon, delivered an address of about twenty minutes. In course of his remarks he first expressed his appreciation of the cordiality of the reception given the boosters. Secondly, he called attention to the unlimited natural resources of Oklahoma, scattered throughout every county in the state, not confined to one section. Furthermore, he called attention to the fact that Oklahoma is second state in the union on increase of population and that in the near future she would be second to none—not even New York. He gave as some of his reasons why Oklahoma City should have the capital that the capital of the state should bear the state's name and be located in the county of that name. He added that Oklahoma City would not have the capital if they had to get it unfairly or by mud slinging. They are satisfied to leave it to the voters of the state.

The kettle drum tapped, the citizens dispersed, the teachers and students retreated to their respective schools with perfect discipline, and the Boosters were gone.

CARTER PROPOSES A MOUNTAIN ROAD

Poteau, Ok., May 9.—Congressman Charles D. Carter has introduced a measure asking that the sum of $35,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be appropriated for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a road over the Winding Stairs and Kiamichi Mountains in LeFlore county.

The southern part of LeFlore county is sparsely settled and the taxable value comparatively small. It would be a very heavy burden on the county to build a good thoroughfare across these mountains. County Commissioner J. J. Thomas of Talihina realized this and took the matter up with Mr. Carter and explained to him the need of the government co-operating in this matter.

SPEED ASKS FEDERAL JUDGESHIP

Texas and Oklahoma Boundary Line Survey Opposed by Congressmen.

Washington, May 9.—Horace Speed, of Guthrie, former United States district attorney for the western district of Oklahoma, is applicant for a federal judgeship in Alaska. It is said Mr. Speed does not desire public office, but has taken this step in order that the department of justice may review his record as United States district attorney and from which place he was removed by order of President Roosevelt.

Mr. Speed contends that perjury evidence was used to bring about his disgrace. He stated today that it was vindication he was after and that the department can in no other way be induced to re-open the case.

There will be no survey of the boundary line between Texas and Oklahoma if the democratic members of the Oklahoma congressional delegation can prevent it. Representatives Carter and Ferris declare that the Stephens bill as reported from the house committee will not only saddle upon the state half the cost of such a boundary dispute but in addition might result in the loss of Greer county, the banner democratic county of the state, to Texas, in addition to other land along the Red river and now recognized as a part of the Chickaw nation. They blame Representative McGuire, who is a member of the committee, for going to sleep upon the rights of the state in this matter.

An amendment has been drawn up by the two congressmen which will be offered to the bill and which will make it optional upon the part of Oklahoma to become a party to the proposed survey. Representative Stephens said today that he is prepared to accept the amendment.

The bill as presently drawn provides for the appointment of a commission of three, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico each to have one representative and the purpose of which will be to fix old boundary lines. New Mexico also is objecting to the measure and its defeat is now predicted.

Another opportunity is to be granted the people of Oklahoma in which to make payment on government town lots. Two extensions of time already have been granted, thanks to the efforts of Representative Carter and Senator Owen and now the former is about to ask for a third extension. The purpose of the legislation will be to enable people having a monetary interest in town lots to pay for them up to the day of their resale by the government.

TO BYRD'S MILL.

It seems to be the general sentiment that Ada should go to Byrd's Mill for her water. The City Council believe that way and their constituency seem to be behind them.
Once a pipe to the mill, the water problem would be solved for all time
both as to quality and quantity.

If you don't believe it would pay
to go to Byrd's Mill for water, just draw councilman Sims out on the subject.

THE INDIVIDUAL BOOSTING.

President Commercial Secretaries As-
on Town Building.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 9.—The Commercial Secretaries' Association
has given out the following:
"The part that the individual citizen can and should play in the development of the community, while almost as important as that of a commercial club, is often disregarded and often overlooked entirely. While it is true that concerted action on the part of the citizens of a community is the commercial salvation of
a town, it is equally true that each individual may assist materially in causing the tide of immigration to flow toward his city or town and the homeseeker and investor to turn their faces toward his locality for a permanent residence.

"In a town in Southern California
a party of tourists were recently stopping for a few days' rest and recreation. The persons composing
the party were all members of wealthy influential families of the larger Eastern cities, a class of citizens who would materially benefit a community by becoming residents there-
of. Several of the members of the party strolled into one of the principal dry goods stores in the downtown district and the proprietor of the store, on learning that his customers were strangers in the city,
immediately threw off the mantle of
business reserve and exerted himself
in pointing out to the visitors the
different points of interest in the city; the best views to be had of
the beach, etc., and without knowing the prominence and wealth of the visitors from the East, he insisted on showing the whole party over the entire city in his automobile. So impressed were the Eastern guests with
the grandeur of the scenery and the salubrity of the climate that they only three out of the eight returned to their homes in the East, the other five buying magnificent homes in the little California town and becoming permanent residents. Thus the merchant in one afternoon did the work
of a whole commercial club by bringing to his town five men of influence
and capital, thereby adding thousands
of dollars to the wealth of the city.

"Follow the example of the California merchant and constitute yourself a committee of one to explain to the visitors from the North, East or West why your city or town is the best place on earth in which to live;
tell him of the vast opportunities in
the way of raw material and cheap
labor that await the Eastern manufacturer, of the fields of undeveloped minerals that are waiting for the capital of the North and East to open the mines and the smelters; of
the thousands of acres of idle land
that is waiting for the farmer and
the dairyman; of the fruits and the berries that are ready for the can-neries and do not forget to tell him
of the fair treatment that will be accorded him and his money in the
your own state. In other words, do not forget when the opportunity offers, to leave an impression of the state in general and your city in particular that will remain so convincingly in the memory of the
stranger within your gates that he will return and make it his home."

COSTLY FIRES IN TEXAS AND IN OKLAHOMA

Gilmer, Upshur Co., Tex., May 9.— A fire originated this morning between 3 and 4 o'clock and did considerable damage. The loss is estimated at about $15,000.

Those who sustained losses are:
Futrell Bros., dry goods; Mrs. J. F.
Croley, hardware; R. C. Barnwell, druggist; Mrs. W. B. Oden, building;
K. of P. and W. O. W. lodges; Dr. G.
A. Eberhart, dentist; W. D. Russell, restaurant; E. F. Alridge, tailor; J.
E. Bailey, cold drinks; J. W. Wall, dry goods; Waghalter & Kurtz, dry goods; S. J. Moughon, groceries.

At one time it looked like an entire block would burn, but by the good work of the firemen and the waterworks the fire was checked.

Beaver City, Ok., May 9.—Fire destroyed the west side of the square here last night, the loss being about $60,000.

Among the buildings burned was the old court house, one of the most historic structures in the city.

Soldier Heir to Fortune.

Lawton, Ok., May 9.—Private Jacob Berlinskie of Battery C, First Field Artillery, at Fort Sill, who is at present holding the position as mail orderly in the service of the army, has fallen heir to an estate in Poland valued at $75,000.

He left Fort Sill yesterday with his finances to have attorneys settle the estate.

He has a two months' furlough and will probably purchase his discharge from the service of the army and return to Poland to reside.

FIGHT FOR DISSOLUTION OF OIL COMPANIES RE-NEWED.

TO SUPPRESS DISPOSITION

Shows Oil Sold in Kansas at 6 Cents and the Same Stuff in Oklahoma for 11.

Enid, Okla., May 9.—District
Judge Garber today continued hearings in the application of Attorney General West for a dissolution of the
relations of the Waters-Pierce Oil company and the Standard Oil company until May 23, in order that H.
Clay Pierce, who is now said to be
in Mexico, may appear as a witness
for the defendants. A motion asking for a continuance, was granted after Attorney General West sought to introduce a deposition of Pierce, which
was taken in a former hearing in another case in St. Louis. Attorney
H. S. Priest of St. Louis, one of counsel for the defendant, in his argument declared that the defendant was powerless to enforce the attendance of Pierce at this time.
West agreed to a continuance if the defendant would agree to bring Pierce into court.

Judge Garber held that the object of the requirement to plead has been fulfilled when it is sufficient to inform the court of the materiality
of the testimony and the absence of
the witness and to inform the defendants to the extent that they might place themselves in a position
to reach the requirements of the order if issued or to obviate the necessity of the order for furnishing in advance such testimony as is thought to be elicited, that is to say, to show wherein the order might be unnecessary in view of the tender of the defendants, their willingness to come in and show that they will supply
the requirements of the state.

"In the discussion here it really
appears that the testimony of the witness when taken into consideration with the pleadings in the case
is material and that it is competent;
that it is sufficient to inform the
defendants of his personality, his whereabouts, does not appear in this case.

"The court is of the opinion that
the very object of the requirements
of the state to set out these matters
has been fulfilled or is necessary in this case, and this is gathered from
the discussion of learned counsel,
from admissions made and on file,
from the pleadings and from all matters appearing in the case which
court has the right to take into consideration in the determination of the matter.

"The holding of the court will be
that the application is sufficient to warrant the issuance of an order requiring the presence of the witness Pierce within a reasonable time and that reasonable time to be determined upon the suggestion and recommendation by counsel in the case."

An order was issued for the appearance of Pierce.

When the Waters-Pierce case was called in court this morning, Attorney General West sought to introduce the deposition of H. Clay Pierce.
This followed the filing of stipulations and the order of the supreme court denying a writ of prohibition
to the Waters-Pierce attorneys. Attorney Priest declared that if the court were going to take up the matter of the deposition of Pierce, counsel for defense wanted time for preparation. Priest shortly thereafter filed a motion asking for the suppression of the deposition. This was eventually sustained when an agreement was reached to bring Pierce
into court.

In his argument on the motion produced a map showing the division
of the interests of the Standard Oil company, and declared that under
the Standard's operation in Kansas
a certain grade of oil is sold for 6 cents, when the same grade of oil is sold in Oklahoma, where the Waters-Pierce company operates, for 11
cents.

Cameron Crippling Education.

Weatherford, Okla., May 9.—It seems as if the people were used to democratic manipulations in our normal schools by this time as from
the very first they have done nothing
but raise Hail Columbia. Yet there seems to be terrific uproar both
among the students and citizens over the recent changes in the faculty here by the Cameron gang. Why all this uproar? Could you expect anything else judging from past records? Cameron, our honorable preacher politician state superintendent, who presides so ably over our educational
interests, as a ward politician over his rednosed subordinates in the back end of a saloon. He has just about that much interest in the welfare of the schools. He wants to be re-elected and has control of the board.
The only question with him is, who
is that applicant for in the campaign? Is he a Cameron man or an insurgent? If he is a man who has not been cringing to the Cameron gang, off comes his head, or else he
is transferred to another school, compelled to sacrifice his property here,
take a reduction in his salary or put
to some kind of work he knows nothing about.

If a man has an opinion of his own he can't hold a job under Cameron. Even if the man is very quiet about it or fails to worship at the Cameron shrine little spies are sneaking about reading minds and telling their master. These little tattlers have been spotting every fellow to perfection. Nobody was missed. Of course the lady teachers who were ousted were not mixed up with
the political end of it but indirect political pulls cost them their positions. The new contracts of teachers in the Normals make them more subservient than that they can be turned out any time if they don't dance
to suit the fiddler.

Prof. Burke goes to Alva; Whitcomb the best man in the state in
his line is changed to mathematics at Alva. Bremer, who is a marvel in voice and instrumental music and
the very soul of the music department here, has been transferred to Alva to fiddle for a living and he
don't know how to rosin the fiddle.
Landrum of the expression department, was completely chopped off the list, as was Dowel and Glover and
the Misses Vrooman, Abernathy, Packard and Trimble. Bohannon was changed from his work to teach German and is in almost as bad a shape
as Bremer. At Edmond, Prof. Bryan
lost out and was transferred to Alva.
All over the state this contemptible
horseplay has been going on. At Alva
the citizens held an indignation meeting, but the only recourse is to get even at the ballot box.—The Weatherford Booster.

Finds Fortune on Walls.

San Francisco, Cal.—Ten years ago Henry Brink of Melrose purchased a few thousand shares of stock in an Arizona gold mine.

In return for several hundred dollars he received a great bundle of green certificates handsomely engraved.

After waiting in vain for the mine
to become productive and finally deciding, as an investor, that he was
as green as his certificates, Brink smiled over his loss and papered his rooms with the souvenirs of his folly.

As a mural decoration, his stock
was worth par. He was informed today that porcelain clay of rare quality had been discovered on the mine
site and that his certificates, in consequence were worth a fortune.

Promptly thereupon Brink watered
his stock. That is, he soaked it, and the certificates peeled off nicely. His walls are now bare, but he says he will remedy that at once.

Ada National Bank

By HAROLD CARTER

It was during the second term in
the penitentiary that the great plan
first came into Jim Byers' head. At first it was only a thought that stole upon him during the night, while he tossed uneasily upon his plain bed;
then a desire; suddenly a mighty and overwhelming passion which must be fulfilled.

When he was freed prison societies
came to him and offered him help.
But he refused and started on his
tramp eastward with the little money
that he had earned. First he must fulfill his determination.

It was 150 miles up state to the old home where his brother—the rich man—still lived. Walter had stayed at home and prospered, and was always spoken of as a prospective millionaire, while he, the outcast, the
prodigal, the jailbird, the broken man,
tramped eastward along the railroad
line for that first reunion after 15
years of absence and silence.

It was his absolute determination to
meet his brother face to face and kill
him, kill him as calmly and remorselessly as he himself had once killed cattle in the slaughter yards, because
he had prospered while he was starving. What would come afterward he did not think or care.

For five nights and days he tramped
along the railroad line, exulting at
each remembered landmark for the
A dusty tramp, disheveled, torn, a few
coins dancing in his pockets as he tripped from tie to tie, the knife hidden in his sleeve which was to absolve his debt of hatred. In this wise
he reached the little village.

He stood still, rubbing his eyes in wonder. This his home site? Why,
here was a factory town, with smoke belching from the tops of 20 tall chimneys.

Did anybody remember the old Byers homestead?

Yes, the saloonkeeper remembered
it. But he did not remember Jim in his tramp's clothes, with prison pal-lor upon his face. It had been sold and pulled down these ten years or more. Walter Byers? Why, that was the Byers' home, that red brick building on the hill yonder. He might get a job there possibly. Mr. Byers was always in need of hands in his factory.

Slowly Jim turned his face toward his brother's house and toiled up the hill painfully. No matter, his work would soon be over. But when he reached the gate of the garden he stood still, staring into the face of a little girl who sat there, shading her eyes as she gazed cityward.

"Is Mr. Byers at home?" and he felt the steel beat a tattoo against the bare flesh of his arm.

"Father's not home yet," said the
girl. "There's nobody home but me."

"So you're Walter Byers' daughter, are you? Have you any brothers and sisters?"

"No, there's only me. You're not my Uncle Jim, are you?"

She looked into his face frankly
and anxiously.

"No, I know you're not. Because you're so poor and Uncle Jim's rich.
He's coming home some day to take us by surprise. Only, you see, we're all so anxious for him to come, because father tried so hard for years
to find him, and we know he's making
his fortune out in the west somewhere
and he'll come back again."

He had become a myth, the rich uncle who was to return some day to
his devoted family! Jim heard incidents of his boyhood, exploits now greatly magnified, from his little niece's lips. And they were proud of him!

For the first time since he had left
the penitentiary he laughed, then stopped and drew his sleeve across
his eyes. He turned away.

"Won't you wait for father? He won't be long. Who shall I tell him called to see him?"

Jim straightened himself.

"Tell him a broken man who's gone
out to fight the world again; to lift up
his head and look it in the eye squarely. A man who's taken his beating and learned his lesson."

He turned and plunged down the
steep hill westward in the direction
of the railroad line.

A farm in Central New York,
bought a few years ago for $15 an acre, produced two years later a crop
of peas worth more than $50 an acre.
This incident, considered in conjunction with the fact that many farms
can be bought for even less than the value of the buildings standing on the land, is used in a bulletin by Commissioner Pearson of the state agricultural department to indicate the possibilities of agriculture in New York.

This publication also gives the value of crops in this state for a period
of 40 years, showing that New York
is the fourth state in agricultural importance. A significant feature of the statistics is that while in 1875 New York raised 35,000,000 bushels of potatoes, valued at $10,985,179, last year
it produced 34,850,000 bushels, valued at $26,138,000. Similarly increased value is shown in other crops, while
the volume is about the same.

What's the Use!

Isabel—I'll never have another photograph taken.

Dorothy—Why not, dear?

Isabel—O, if it looks like me I don't like it, and if it flatters me my friends

"KING OF GIPSY VIOLINISTS" LEAVE FORTUNE OF $450,000

Budapest, May 9.—Lajos Munczy, the King of Gipsy Violinists, died here recently at the age of 63 years, leaving property of the value of about $450,000.
He had played before all European monarchs, including King Edward, and was a particular favorite of the late Empress Elizabeth, who used to listen to his music for hours at a time, and gave him many costly presents.
A great part of the violinists fortune came from the jewelry which ladies of the Hungarian aristocracy used to tear off and throw at him when they were carried away by his passionate playing, of the wild melancholy Hungarian tunes and dances.

Two-Pound Volumes Mailed.
The alleged misuse of the franking privilege by the American Tariff League consisted in the sending under senator Gallinger's frank about 10,000 copies of a 482-page volume weighing two pounds. The book is composed of portions of the congressional Record in which the position of the opponents of a high protective tariff are said to be misrepresented through garbled extracts of three speeches and debates, and the whole thing is interlarded with editorializing headlines and editorial subheads which are nowhere to be found in the Congressional Record. Some of the headlines consist of five or six lines of protection argument put in the form of questions.

Demand an Investigation.
Senator Stone offered a resolution demanding an investigation into this alleged abuse of the postal laws. Senator Carter of Montana and other republicans then entered upon a typical senatorial discussion as to the dividing line between frankable and unfrankable matter, and were diverting attention with successful ease from the specific matter under complaint, when Senator La Follette fell upon the hair-splitting with a sledge hammer blow.

The Wisconsin Senator had a letter from an editor in this state in which the newspaper man charged that he received under a congressional frank a circular letter from the American Protective League calling attention to the league's book, and inclosing a fulsome editorial notice of the volume which the editor was expected to publish.

Would Inquire Into Circular
Senator La Follette's sensation put an end to the hair-splitting and the Stone resolution amended to include also an investigation into the circular referred to by Senator La Follette was sent to the senate committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, the chairman of that committee promising a speedy report on the matter.

Senator Stone stated tonight that this is too serious a matter to be put to sleep in a committee room, and that it will probably result in a resolution demanding the department of justice to investigate the affair for action in case violation of the law is found to exist.

B. F. DUDLEY MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED

He has left a wife and three children in destitute circumstances. Any information regarding his whereabouts will be gladly received by his wife, Eva Dudley of this city (Ada.) Dudley is six feet tall, weighs 165 pounds, has dark brown eyes, and slightly grey hair and is aged 32 years.

FRANKING PRIVILEGE MUCH ABUSED

The American Protective Tariff Association $900 to the Good.

Washington, May 9.—Senator Stone of Missouri in the senate today charged that the American Protective Tariff League, through the use of Senator Gallinger's frank, get around paying the Postoffice Department about $900 worth of postage in circulating its defense of the Payne-Aldrich tariff act.

Senator Gallinger got red in the face and said that he had given permission to use his frank for the sending out of a publication composed entirely of extracts from the Congressional Record on the tariff. He lamented the general tendency to misuse franks and agreed that the matter ought to be looked into.

ONE THOUSAND DEAD TAKEN FROM CARTAGO

Survivors of Earthquake at San Jose. Red Cross Workers and Soldiers Only Allowed in Ruins.

San Jose, Costa Rica, May 9.—More than 1,000 dead have been taken from the ruins of Cartago. No one is allowed with in the precincts of the devastated city except the Red Cross workers and gangs of soldiers and volunteers engaged in clearing away the debris, removing the bodies and dynamiting the dangerous buildings.

Most of the survivors of the earthquake are now at San Jose. Medicines and food supplies from the American warships are being rushed from Port Limno, but the condition of those who still remain around the city is such that extraordinary measures must be taken to provide assistance and shelter for them. Even in San Jose the residents are for the most part living in tents and wooden structures, fearing to occupy their homes, as the earth tremors still continue.

Merchant Kills Burglars.

McAlester, Okla., May 9.—J. M. Lathin, a McAlester merchant, shot and killed a burglar as the latter was in the act of entering his store here early Monday morning. A man supposed to be an accomplice of the dead burglar shot at the merchant and ran away. The shot did not strike Lathin.

Cards found on the body indicate that the name of the dead burglar is George Miller and that he is a metal worker from Mexico.

Lathin's store has been entered by robbers several times recently. Sunday night he slept in the store and when he saw the intruder entering to rob the place fired on him with a shotgun.

NEW RECIPE FOR CROQUETTES

Original Manner in Which Sweetbreads May Be Utilized to the Best Advantage.

Throw into cold water with a little lemon juice and let remain 20 minutes. Remove all pipes, skins and fat. Put through a meat chopper with two hard-boiled eggs, a small piece of garlic, a sprig of parsley, half a can of good mushrooms, drained, and one truffle. To this put half a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a dozen drops of tabasco, half a teaspoonful of lemon juice, a good pinch of paprika and white pepper, a little mace and salt to suit taste. Put over a fire half a cupful of the water the sweetbreads were parboiled in, with a cupful of good, rich milk. When just warm stir in smoothly a heaping tablespoonful of butter, blended with two tablespoonfuls of flour. Simmer slowly two minutes, then add the yolks of two eggs well beaten. Add the sweetbreads, but do not boil. Spread on large dish to cool, then form in any shape desired. Run through meat chopper enough blanched peanuts to make a cupful of fine crumbs. Dip the croquettes into this, then into beaten egg yolk, again into the nut crumbs, coating them well and pressing the crumbs into the croquettes well. Set them aside three or four hours to dry.

They can be made the day before, if needed, drying all night.

Fry a rich brown in clarified butter. Garnish with parsley and large green olives (stuffed Spanish) and cut into halves. These are delicious hot or cold.

THE USE OF CANNED GOODS

Quality Will Be Improved by Attention to Details as Herein Set Forth.

Commercial canned goods may be advantageously bought by the dozen in the autumn, and they do not seem to suffer from even a poor storage place, provided it is not so damp that the cans rust through. If dirty or dusty, the cans should always be carefully wiped before they are opened, to prevent accidental soiling of the contents.

Vegetables and fruits canned at home and home-made jellies, jams, and similar foods should be kept in dry, airy storage places, out of direct light. The cans and jars used should be of good quality, and all the usual precautions of good rubber rings (if they are used), and so on, should be taken.

Canning may also be made use of daily for temporary preservation of foods, and it is especially valuable where ice-chest facilities are not good. When making soup stock a large quantity is made as easily as a small, and the surplus may be poured, while hot, into fruit jars and sealed. Boiled milk may be thus canned, and cooked vegetables which may be at the time plentiful or cheap. Mince meat may also be canned, but it will keep a long time in an ordinary receptacle if melted suet be poured over the top. Such canning, especially of soup stock or milk, is only recommended for a few days' keeping, and every precaution should be taken that is familiar in the ordinary canning of fruit or vegetables.

Milan a Hot Bed of Criminals.

Milan, May 9.—So startling has the increase of serious crime and hoodlunism become here of late that Questor Commendatore Bondi has organized armed patrol bands in every district of the city and suburbs. Hundreds of suspicious characters are being arrested nightly. No fewer than 119 were captured one night this week who turned out to be ex-convicts armed with revolvers, daggers or burglary tools.

A large number of these criminals are Southerners who have taken refuge in Milan in consequence of the military campaign against the Camorra in the Neapolitan provinces. It is quite unsafe to venture outside after dark in some of the outlying districts of Milan.

A strenuous endeavor is also afoot for putting an end to the white slave traffic, which has been making alarming strides recently owing to wholesale foreign importations. In this connection also the arrests run into hundreds. Twenty-five young girls sent to Italy by the Parisian white slave syndicate were intercepted by the police in the international night express on its arrival at the central station and conducted back to their own country.

Express Dashes Around Curve Unexpectedly—Escort Halted, One Thrown From Horse.

New York, May 9.—President Taft experienced a narrow escape from possible death in Passaic, N. J., at 6 o'clock tonight.

At the Avenue crossing of the Erie Railroad a westbound express train, hidden by trees until it was almost upon the presidential party, which was in automobiles, escorted by state cavalry and mounted police, dashed around a curve missing by less than twenty feet the automobile in which the president rode. The train appeared so unexpected that part of the president's mounted escort was unable to cross the track.

Well Pleased With Reception—City Schools Join in Demonstrations.

The Oklahoma City Business men have come and gone bearing with them good impressions of Ada and her hospitality as well as business prospects.

At nine o'clock this morning the long special bringing these representatives of Oklahoma City's business interest pulled up at the Frisco. The passengers were given a most hearty greeting not only by the business men but also by over six hundred public school children who sang their patriotic songs as only children can sing.

Seeing the magnitude of the assembly which had given them welcome and especially the large number of school boys and girls, a great many were heard to exclaim, "This is great for Ada, isn't it? This is a good showing for this place. I like this," and similar expressions of appreciation.

The little girls who pinned the badges on the travelers did some good work quickly and nicely but were disappointed in not having a sufficient number of badges at hand to go entirely around.

The visitors following their band marched up Broadway to the City Hall and returned the same way, stopping between the Rollow building and the First National Bank. Here as the procession halted Dr. Geo. H. Braddock, chancellor of the Epworth University, mounting a water wagon, delivered an address of about twenty minutes. In course of his remarks he first expressed his appreciation of the cordiality of the reception given the boosters. Secondly, he called attention to the unlimited natural resources of Oklahoma, scattered throughout every county in the state, not confined to one section. Furthermore, he called attention to the fact that Oklahoma is second state in the union on increase of population and that in the near future she would be second to none—not even New York. He gave as some of his reasons why Oklahoma City should have the capital that the capital of the state should bear the state's name and be located in the county of that name. He added that Oklahoma City would not have the capital if they had to get it unfairly or by mud slinging. They are satisfied to leave it to the voters of the state.

The kettle drum tapped, the citizens dispersed, the teachers and students retreated to their respective schools with perfect discipline, and the boosters were gone.

CARTER PROPOSES A

MOUNTAIN ROAD
Poteau, Ok., May 9.—Congressman Charles D. Carter has introduced a measure asking that the sum of $35,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary, be appropriated for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a road over the Winding Stairs and Kiamichi Mountains in LeFlore county.

The southern part of LeFlore county is sparsely settled and the taxable value comparatively small. It would be a very heavy burden on the county to build a good thoroughfare across these mountains. County Commissioner I. J. Thomas of Tallhoma realized this and took the matter up with Mr. Carter and explained to him the need of the government co-operating in this matter.

SPEED ASKS FEDERAL JUDGESHIP

Texas and Oklahoma Boundary Line Survey Opposed by Congressmen.

Washington, May 9.—Horace Speed, of Guthrie, former United States district attorney for the western district of Oklahoma, is applicant for a federal judgeship in Alaska. It is said Mr. Speed does not desire public office, but has taken this step in order that the department of justice may review his record as United States district attorney and from which place he was removed by order of President Roosevelt.

Mr. Speed contends that perjury evidence was used to bring about his disgrace. He stated today that it was vindication he was after and that the department can in no other way be induced to re-open the case.

There will be no survey of the boundary line between Texas and Oklahoma if the democratic members of the Oklahoma congressional delegation can prevent it. Representatives Carter and Ferris declare that the Stephens bill as reported from the house committee will not only saddle upon the state half the cost of such a boundary dispute but in addition might result in the loss of Greer county, the banner democratic county of the state, to Texas, in addition to other land along the Red river and now recognized as a part of the Chickaw nation. They blame Representative McGuire, who is a member of the committee, for going to sleep upon the rights of the state in this matter.

An amendment has been drawn up by the two congressmen which will be offered to the bill and which will make it optional upon the part of Oklahoma to become a party to the proposed survey. Representative Stephens said today that he is prepared to accept the amendment.

The bill as presently drawn provides for the appointment of a commission of three, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico each to have one representative and the purpose of which will be to fix old boundary lines. New Mexico also is objecting to the measure and its defeat is now predicted.

Another opportunity is to be granted the people of Oklahoma in which to make payment on government town lots. Two extensions of time already have been granted, thanks to the efforts of Representative Carter and Senator Owen and now the former is about to ask for a third extension. The purpose of the legislation will be to enable people having a monetary interest in town lots to pay for them up to the day of their resale by the government.

TO BYRD'S MILL.
It seems to be the general sentiment that Ada should go to Byrd's
Mill for her water. The City Council believes that way and their constituency seem to be behind them.
Once a pipe to the mill, the water
problem would be solved for all time,
both as to quality and quantity.
If you don't believe it would pay
draw councilman Sims out on the
subject.

on 'Town Building.

Commercial Secretaries Association
has given out the following
The part that the individual citizen can and should play in the development of the community while
almost as important as that of a commercial club, is often disregarded
and often overlooked entirely.
While it is true that concerted action on the part of the citizens of a community is the commercial salvation of
causing the tide of immigration to
flow toward his city or town and the
faces toward his locality for a permanent residence.

In a town in Southern California
a party of tourists were recently
the party were all members of wealthy
influential families of the larger
who would materially benefit a community by becoming residents there-
of. Several of the members of the party strolled into one of the principal dry goods stores in the downtown district and the proprietor of
the store on learning that his customers were strangers in the city
different points of interest in the
city, the best views to be had of
the beach etc. and without knowing
itors from the East he insisted on
showing the whole party over the entire city in his automobile. So im-
salubrity of the climate that only three out of the eight returned
to their homes in the East the other
little California town and becoming
permanent residents. Thus the mer-
of a whole commercial club by bring-
of dollars to the wealth of the city.

Follow the example of the California merchant and constitute yourself a committee of one to explain to the visitors from the North East or West why your city or town is the
tell him of the vast opportunities in
the way of raw material and cheap
labor that await the Master man manufacturer of the fields of undeveloped minerals that are waiting for
open the mines and the smelters of
the thousands of acres of idle land
berries that are ready for the can-
neries and do not forget to tell him
corded him and his money in the
not forget when the opportunity of-
state in general and your city in
vincingly in the memory of the
stranger within your gates that he

NEWED.

Shows Oil Sold in Kansas at 6 Cents and the Same Stuff in Oklahoma for 11.

Judge Garber today continued hearings in the application of Attorney General West for a dissolution of the
relations of the Waters Pierce Oil
company and the Standard Oil company until May 23 in order that H.
Clay Pierce, who is now said to be
in Mexico may appear as a witness
Attorney General West sought to in-
was taken in a former hearing in
H. S. Priest of St. Louis one of
counsel for the defendant in his argument declared that the defend-
ant was powerless to enforce the attendance of Pierce at this time.
West agreed to a continuance if the
defendant would agree to bring Pierce into court.

Judge Garber held that the object of the requirement to plead has
been fulfilled when it is sufficient to
inform the court of the materiality
of the testimony and the absence of
the witness and to inform the defendants to the extent that they
to reach the requirements of the order it issued or to obviate the necessity of the order for furnishing in
advance such testimony as is thought
to be elicited that is to say to show
wherein the order might be unnecessary in view of the tender of the
defendants their willingness to come
in and show that they will supply

appears that the testimony of the
witness when taken into consideration with the pleadings in the case
whereabouts does not appear in this
case.

"The court is of the opinion that
the very object of the requirements
of the state to set out these matters
has been fulfilled or is necessary in
this case and this is gathered from
the discussion of learned counsel
from admissions made and on file
from the pleadings and from all matters appearing in the case which
court has the right to take into consideration in the determination of
the matter.

The holding of the court will be
warrant the issuance of an order requiring the presence of the witness Pierce within a reasonable time and that reasonable time to be determined upon the suggestion and recommendation by counsel in the case.

An order was issued for the appearance of Pierce.

When the Waters-Pierce case was
called in court this morning Attorney General West sought to introduce
the deposition of H. Clay Pierce.
This followed the filing of stipula-
tions and the order of the supreme
to the Waters Pierce attorneys. Attorney Priest declared that if the
court were going to take up the matter of the deposition of Pierce counsel for defense wanted time for preparation. Priest shortly thereafter filed a motion asking for the suppression of the deposition. This was eventually sustained when an agreement was reached to bring Pierce
into court.

In his argument on the motion produced a map showing the division
company and declared that under
the Standard's operation in Kansas
a certain grade of oil is sold for 6
cents when the same grade of oil is
sold in Oklahoma, where the Waters
Pierce company operates for 11
cents.

Cameron Crippling Education.

Weatherford, Okla., May, 9.—It
seems as if the people were used to
democratic manipulations in our normal schools by this time as from
the very first they have done nothing
but raise Hail Columbia. Yet there seems to be terrific uproar both
among the students and citizens over the recent changes in the faculty he
by the Cameron gang. Why all this
uproar? Could you expect anything else judging from past records? Cameron our honorable preacher politician state superintendent who pre-
interests as a ward politician over
his rednosed subordinates in the back
end of a saloon. He has just about
that much interest in the welfare
of the schools. He wants to be re-elected and has control of the board.
The only question with him is who
is that applicant for in the campaign? Is he a Cameron man or an
insurgent? If he is a man who has not been cringing to the Cameron
gang off comes his head or else he
is transferred to another school compelled to sacrifice his property here
take a reduction in his salary or put
nothing about.

If a man has an opinion of his
own he can't hold a job under Cam-
Cameron shrine little spies are
sneaking about reading minds and
telling their master. These little tattlers have been spotting every tellow to perfection. Nobody was missed. Of course the lady teachers who were ousted were not mixed up with
the political end of it but indirect
political pulls cost them their posi-
in the Normals make them more subservient than that they can be turned out any time if they don't dance
to suit the fiddler.

Prof. Burke goes to Alva. Whitcomb the best man in the state in
his line is changed to mathematics at Alva. Bremer, who is a marvel
in voice and instrumental music and
the very soul of the music department here has been transferred to Alva to fiddle for a living and he
don't know how to rosin the fiddle.
Landrum of the expression department was completely chopped off the
list as was Dowel and Glover and
the Misses Vrooman. Abernathy
Packard and Trimble Bohannon was
changed from his work to teach German and is in almost as bad a snap-
as Bremer. At Edmond Prof. Bryan
lost out and was transferred to Alva.
All over the state this contemptible
horseplay has been going on. At Alva
the citizens held an indignation
meeting but the only recourse is to
get even at the ballot box.—The Weatherford Hooster.

San Francisco Cal.—Ten years
ago Henry Brink of Melrose purchased a few thousand shares of
stock in an Arizona gold mine.

lars he received a great bundle of
green certificates handsomely engraved.

After waiting in vain for the mine
to become productive and finally deciding as an investor that he was
as green as his certificates Brink
smiled over his loss and papered his
rooms with the souvenirs of his folly.

As a mural decoration his stock
was worth par. He was informed to-
day that porcelain clay of rare quality had been discovered on the mine
site and that his certificates in consequence were worth a fortune.

Promptly thereupon Brink watered
his stock. That is, he soaked it and
the certificates peeled off nicely. His
walls are now bare but he says he

The Prodigal
Uncle
By HAROLD CARTER

It was during the second term in
the penitentiary that the great plan
first came into Jim Byers' head. At
first it was only a thought that stole
upon him during the night, while he
tossed uneasily upon his plain bed;
then a desire, suddenly a mighty and
overwhelming passion which must be
fulfilled.

When he was freed prison societies
came to him and offered him help.
But he refused and started on his
tramp eastward with the little money
that he had earned. First he must
fulfill his determination.

It was 150 miles up state to the old
home where his brother—the rich
man—still lived. Walter had stayed
at home and prospered, and was always spoken of as a prospective millionaire, while he, the outcast, the
prodigal, the jailbird, the broken man,
tramped eastward along the railroad
line for that first reunion after 15
years of absence and silence.

meet his brother face to face and kill
him. Kill him as calmly and remorselessly as he himself had once killed
cattle in the slaughter yards, because
he had prospered while he was starv-
ing. What would come afterward he did not think or care.

along the railroad line, exulting at
each remembered landmark for the
A dusty tramp, disheveled, torn, a few
tripped from tie to tie, the knife hidden in his sleeve which was to ab-
solve his debt of hatred. In this wise
he reached the little village.

He stood still, rubbing his eyes in
wonder. This his home site? Why,
here was a factory town, with smoke
belching from the tops of 20 tall chimneys.

Did anybody remember the old By-
ers homestead?

Yes, the saloonkeeper remembered
it. But he did not remember Jim in
his tramp's clothes, with prison pal-
lor upon his face. It had been sold
and pulled down these ten years or
more. Walter Byers? Why, that was
the Byers' home, that red brick building on the hill yonder. He might get
always in need of hands in his factory.

Slowly Jim turned his face toward his brother's house and topped up the hill painfully. No matter, his work
would soon be over. But when he
stood still, staring into the face of a little girl who sat there, shading her
eyes as she gazed cityward.

"Is Mr. Byers at home?" and he felt the steel beat a tattoo against the
bare flesh of his arm.

Father's not home yet," said the
So you're Walter Byers' daughter,
are you? Have you any brothers and
sisters?"

No, there's only me. You're not
my Uncle Jim are you?"
She looked into his face frankly
and anxiously.

No, I know you're not. Because
you're so poor and Uncle Jim's rich.
He's coming home some day to take
us by surprise. Only you see, we're
all so anxious for him to come, be-
cause father tried so hard for years
to find him and we know he's making
his fortune out in the west somewhere
and he'll come back again."

He had become a myth, the rich
his devoted family! Jim heard incidents of his boyhood, exploits now
greatly magnified, from his little niece's lips. And they were proud of him!

For the first time since he had left
the penitentiary he laughed, then
stopped and drew his sleeve across
his eyes. He turned away.

"Won't you wait for father? He won't be long. Who shall I tell him
called to see him?"

Jim straightened himself.
"Tell him a broken man who's gone
out to fight the world again, to lift up
his head and look it in the eye
squarely. A man who's taken his beating and learned his lesson."

He turned and plunged down the
steep hill westward in the direction
of the railroad line.

A farm in Central New York,
bought a few years ago for $15 an
acre, produced two years later a crop
of peas worth more than $50 an acre.
This incident, considered in conjunc-
can be bought for even less than the
value of the buildings standing on the
land, is used in a bulletin by Commissioner Pearson of the state agricultural department to indicate the
possibilities of agriculture in New York.

This publication also gives the value of crops in this state for a period
of 40 years, showing that New York
is the fourth state in agricultural importance. A significant feature of the
York raised 35,000,000 bushels of potatoes, valued at $10,885,179, last year
it produced 34,860,000 bushels, valued
at $28,138,000. Similarly increased
value is shown in other crops, while

"KING OF GIPSY VIOLINISTS" LEAVE FORTUNE OF $150,000

Budapest, May 9.—Lajos Munczy, the King of Gipsy Violinists, died here recently at the age of 63 years, leaving property of the value of about $150,000.

He had played before all European monarchs, including King Edward, and was a particular favorite of the late Empress Elizabeth, who used to listen to his music for hours at a time, and gave him many costly presents.

A great part of the violinists' fortune came from the jewelry which ladies of the Hungarian aristocracy used to tear off and throw at him when they were carried away by his passionate playing, of the wild melancholy Hungarian tunes and dances.

FRANKING PRIVILEGE MUCH ABUSED

Washington, May 9.—Senator Stone of Missouri in the senate today charged that the American Protective Tariff League, through the use of Senator Gallinger's frank, get around paying the Postoffice Department about $900 worth of postage in circulating its defense of the Payne-Aldrich tariff act.

Senator Gallinger got red in the face and said that he had given permission to use his frank for the sending out of a publication composed entirely of extracts from the Congressional Record on the tariff. He lamented the general tendency to misuse franks and agreed that the matter ought to be looked into.

Two-Pound Volumes Mailed.

The alleged misuse of the franking privilege by the American Tariff League consisted in the sending under senator Gallinger's frank about 10,000 copies of a 482-page volume weighing two pounds. The book is composed of portions of the congressional Record in which the position of the opponents of a high protective tariff are said to be misrepresented through garbled extracts of three speeches and debates, and the whole thing is interlarded with editorializing headlines and editorial subheads which are nowhere to be found in the Congressional Record. Some of the headlines consist of five or six lines of protection argument put in the form of questions.

Demand an Investigation.

Senator Stone ordered a resolution demanding an investigation into this alleged abuse of the postal laws. Senator Carter of Montana and other republicans then entered upon a typical senatorial discussion as to the dividing line between frankable and unfrankable matter, and were diverting attention with successful ease from the specific matter under complaint, when Senator La Follette fell upon the hair-splitters with a sledge hammer blow.

The Wisconsin Senator had a letter from an editor in this state in which the newspaper man charged that he received under a congressional frank a circular letter from the American Protective League calling attention to the league's book, and inclosing a fulsome editorial notice of the volume which the editor was expected to publish.

Would Inquire Into Circular

Senator La Follette's sensation put an end to the hair-splitting and the Stone resolution amended to include also an investigation into the circular referred to by Senator La Follette was sent to the senate committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, the chairman of that committee promising a speedy report on the matter.

Senator Stone stated tonight that this is too serious a matter to be put to sleep in a committee room, and that it will probably result in a resolution demanding the department of justice to investigate the affair for action in case violation of the law is found to exist.

ONE THOUSAND DEAD TAKEN FROM CARTAGO

Survivors of Earthquake at San Jose. Red Cross Workers and Soldiers Only Allowed in Ruins.

San Jose, Costa Rica, May 9.—More than 1,000 dead have been taken from the ruins of Cartago. No one is allowed within the precincts of the devastated city except the Red Cross workers and gangs of soldiers and volunteers engaged in clearing away the debris, removing the bodies and dynamiting the dangerous buildings.

Most of the survivors of the earthquake are now at San Jose. Medicines and food supplies from the American warships are being rushed from Port Limno, but the condition of those who still remain around the city is such that extraordinary measures must be taken to provide assistance and shelter for them. Even in San Jose the residents are for the most part living in tents and wooden structures, fearing to occupy their homes, as the earth tremors still continue.

Merchant Kills Burglars.

McAlester, Okla., May 9.—J. M. Latham, a McAlester merchant, shot and killed a burglar as the latter was in the act of entering his store here early Monday morning. A man supposed to be an accomplice of the dead burglar shot at the merchant and ran away. The shot did not strike Latham.

Cards found on the body indicate that the name of the dead burglar is George Miller and that he is a metal worker from Mexico.

Latham's store has been entered by robbers several times recently. Sunday night he slept in the store and when he saw the intruder entering to rob the place fired on him with a shotgun.

Parboil two pairs of sweetbreads in salted water to which a piece of garlic and onion have been added.

Throw into cold water with a little lemon juice and let remain 20 minutes. Remove all pipes, skins and fat. Put through a meat chopper with two hard-boiled eggs, a small piece of garlic, a sprig of parsley, half a can of good mushrooms, drained, and one truffle. To this put half a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a dozen drops of tobacco, half a teaspoonful of lemon juice, a good pinch of paprika and white pepper, a little mace and salt to suit taste. Put over a fire half a cupful of the water the sweetbreads were parboiled in, with a cupful of good, rich milk. When just warm stir in smoothly a heaping tablespoonful of butter, blended with two tablespoonfuls of flour. Stirmer slowly two minutes, then add the yolks of two eggs well beaten. Add the sweetbreads, but do not boil. Spread on large dish to cool, then form in any shape desired. Run through meat chopper enough blanching peanuts to make a cupful of fine crumbs. Dip the croquettes into this, then into beaten egg yolk, again into the nut crumbs, coating them well and pressing the crumbs into the croquettes well. Set them aside three or four hours to dry.

Fry a rich brown in clarified butter. Garnish with parsley and large green olives (stuffed Spanish) and cut into halves. These are delicious hot or cold.

THE USE OF CANNED GOODS

Commercial canned goods may be advantageously bought by the dozen in the autumn, and they do not seem to suffer from even a poor storage place, provided it is not so damp that the cans rust through. If dirty or dusty, the cans should always be carefully wiped before they are opened, to prevent accidental soiling of the contents.

Vegetables and fruits canned at home and home-made jellies, jams, and similar foods should be kept in dry, airy storage places, out of direct light. The cans and jars used should be of good quality, and all the usual precautions of good rubber rings (if they are used), and so on, should be taken.

Canning may also be made use of daily for temporary preservation of foods, and it is especially valuable where ice-chest facilities are not good. When making soup stock a large quantity is made as easily as a small, and the surplus may be poured, while hot, into fruit jars and sealed. Boiled milk may be thus canned, and cooked vegetables which may be at the time plentiful or cheap. Mince meat may also be canned, but it will keep a long time in an ordinary receptacle if melted suet be poured over the top.

Such canning, especially of soup stock or milk, is only recommended for a few days' keeping, and every precaution should be taken that is familiar in the ordinary canning of fruit or vegetables.

ROOSEVELT PROBABLE AM-

BASSARDOR TO FUNERAL

Passaic, N. J., May 9.—President Taft in all probability will designate Theodore Roosevelt as a special Ambassador to represent the United States government at the funeral of King Edward. He said tonight that he would take the matter up with Secretary Knox soon after he returned to Washington.

President Taft, who attended the annual banquet of the Passaic Board of Trade tonight, will be in Washington again tomorrow. He said he was anxious to appoint Col. Roosevelt to represent this government. As yet he has taken no step in that direction, however, as up to the time he left Washington this morning no official notification had been received by the Washington government as to the date of the funeral.

President Taft is not conversant with the precedents to such occasions, but if a special representative is called for by the proprietors and Mr. Roosevelt will accept the designation he will be named by the president.

An Insane "Kissing Bug."

Boise City, Okla., May 9.—Under the delusion that the Almighty had directed him to kiss everyone he met, Israel Crammer, living three miles north of Dees in Cimarron county, has been adjudged insane and taken to an asylum for treatment.

This procedure did not set well with the feminine element of the community and complaint was immediately instituted.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which, despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere, seemed never to achieve a healthy growth?

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart. You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out. Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result.

DEMOCRATS AGAINST NEGRO RULE

Executive Committee Discuss Plans for Eliminating Vote of Illiterate Blacks.

Oklahoma City, Ok., May 9.—Two hundred representative democrats from nearly every county in Oklahoma met in executive session here today pursuant to a call issued by Fred P. Branson, chairman of the state executive committee.

They discussed plans of organization and efforts of the party to eliminate the vote of illiterate negroes, many of whom are said to be coming annually into Oklahoma.

After the committee adjourned the Cruce supporters from over the state held a next executive session. A little furor was created in the assembly room upon adjournment of the committee when friends of Murray and friends of Cruce, both gubernatorial candidates, began shouting for their candidates.

Among the important events of the day was the announcement that Thomas J. Leahy of Pawhuska had entered the race for the democratic nomination for congress in the First District, which is represented by McGuire, a republican.

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY Will Surely Stop That Cough.

The Crackajack

"Say," said the Junior Office Boy, who was a graduate of the Bowery, to the Senior Office Boy, who was a graduate of Harvard, "The Chief's going to get a new stenographer."

This piece of news failed to interest the Senior, who had watched with indifference the entrances and exits of a be-pompaded procession of damsels and had, without regret, seen them go their ways after a brief trial by the irascible Chief—not because they were incompetent; quite the reverse; because they transcribed the Chief's words instead of his thoughts, which were often quite at variance with each other. The Chief's ideas were all right, but he could not express them, and he wanted a mind-reader—something which the stenographic employment bureau had heretofore been unable to supply.

"Another?" The Harvard Graduate raised his eyebrows.

"Yes, but this one's a crackajack. She's a peach, I tell you. She's your sort, too; she says 'haw' and 'pawst.'"

The mention of this shibboleth of the other's class, the Junior thought, could not fail to call forth his enthusiasm. But he was doomed to disappointment. It was but a languid interest that was aroused in the Senior at most.

But the next morning when the Crackajack arrived the Junior had the satisfaction of seeing the Senior's eyes widen with admiration and surprise.

"Didn't I tell you?" he telegraphed across the mailing desk triumphantly.

"Tell—why, any one with half an eye could see. She walks a goddess." The Harvard Graduate felt that even Virgil was scarce adequate to the occasion as he followed with languishing glances the figure that was just disappearing behind the ground glass door of the Chief's room. Every ear was strained to catch the conversation that followed behind the partition—if the Chief were displeased his displeasure would be quite audible—but, oh, how delectably every man in that office hoped that he might not be!

The Chief was not displeased. On the contrary, he seemed quite subdued—even conciliatory.

"The Old Man's met his match this time," whispered the Junior Office Boy with a wink.

With the advent of the Crackajack came a revolution in office etiquette. Shirtsleeved deshabille fell into disfavor; cigarettes were tabooed and strong language was absolutely forbidden—and that by the Chief himself, who, while his conventional vocabulary was limited, was as varied and forceful as Job himself in invective. He soon found it necessary to install a telephone booth to which he might retire when his feelings became too strong for expression over the desk 'phone.

Nor was the revolution confined to office etiquette only. The Chief's letters had become, under the magic touch of the Crackajack, models of English.

"As you have explained the matter to our satisfaction, we will disgorge one-half the amount charged," he had dictated the first day.

"Refund?" suggested the young lady quietly. The Chief frowned slightly and proceeded. "If you will peruse the foregoing verbiage—"

"Remarks?" Again the pencil was poised questioningly.

The Chief fidgeted for a moment then he said somewhat feebly: "What's the matter with those other words? They sound good enough to me."

Silently his stenographer opened the dictionary and laid it before him.

"Hum—Disgorge, to give up unwillingly ill-gotten gains." Verbiage, the use of many words with little sense," he read, and after that he allowed himself to be shorn of the high-sounding expressions he had been so fond of using (but which yet did not seem to express what he meant in spite of their imposing appearance) without protest.

By the end of the first week every man in the office was ready to lay his heart at the feet of the Crackajack. The bookkeeper made pencil notation on all his margins in an effort to figure out how two could live on $100 a month, and the Harvard Graduate was framing his proposal in blank verse, for he knew that he had met his ideal. He was still young enough to have ideals.

But there came a day at last when the Harvard Graduate's dream was shattered—a day, however, when in the Chief's eyes his new stenographer acquired the final touch of perfection.

He became restive under this suppression and one day, in working off some of his irritation, a "big, big D" exploded into the telephone not 12 inches from the delicate little ear which must beyond all question be too greatly shocked.

He dropped the receiver and mopped his brow.

"I beg your pardon," he muttered; "I didn't mean that. I—"

The Crackajack looked him calmly in the eye.

"Why not? It's pure, vigorous English—and quite the right word under the circumstances. There are occasions," she said, "when no other word is adequate—occasions when I use it myself—mentally."

The Chief took a long, long breath. "Ah, woman, woman," he sighed, bitterly, "once our superiors, now our equals!"

Queer Behavior by "The Captain"

"So you come after all," observed Tabitha in a tone of reproach.

"I come right away, soon's I got your message," returned Lavinia.

The visiting spinster laid aside her shawl and straightened her bonnet. She was the dried apricot kind, and sucked in her lips so hard that she spoke with a lisp. It was a wonder that her quick, nervous movements never made her bones rattle.

Miss Tabitha was just the other way, like a pin cushion. There was a double chin under her face and a rat over it, and the latter was the more apparent because it was reddish in color, whereas the three wisps of hair that held it on were brown.

"Certainly I come right away," Lavinia reaffirmed, "and I'd just like to know why you're sending for me at this hour of the morning. I've hardly ate breakfast. What's happened?"

"Wait till you hear."

"The captain ain't had a spell has he?"

"Somethin' pretty like it. I should say, and if he hasn't, why then, I have."

"Do tell."

"Yes, it's just as I say. I'm that nervous I can't make a cup of tea, and the captain's in disgrace."

"Ain't taken to drinkin', has he?"

The visiting spinster went off in a titter.

"Lavinia Merkle! Well, no. But he would if he could, right enough. He's the worst parrot in Greenwich village."

"That why you've got the cage covered?"

"That's it. Didn't you hear nothin' in the night?"

"How would I, across the street?"

"Well, it's a mercy you didn't. I thought all the neighbors would hear."

"What's he done?"

"Just listen to this. Come nine o'clock last night when I was thinkin' of bed, I noticed the captain was eyin' me pretty sharp."

"O ho, Mr. captain, I won't stand for none of your nonsense," I says. "If you're up to mischief, you can take the mornin' for it." And he cocked his head on one side and kept his eye on me. I said 'Good night,' but he never answered a word, so I turned out the light and got into bed."

"That all?"

"I should say not! I lay there and I lay there, wonderin' what he was goin' to do. At last, after midnight, I hadn't no more than got to sleep when I was waked up by a terrible screech."

"Tabitha Mowscripts!"

"Yes I was 'Mr. Captain,' I says, 'you'll get yours, some mornin',' I says. And with that he let out a screech worse than other. That time I just passed it over so's he'd think I wasn't payin' any attention to him. It worked good, too. There wasn't a sound out of him for a long time, but just as I was dozin' off again he let out another yell that made me sit right up in bed. And what do you s'pose he said?"

"What?"

"Whisky?"

"Tabitha Mowscripts!"

"Fetch the whisky," he bellers. Wasn't it scandalous? 'Fetch the whisky—whisky, whisky, whisky!'"

"You wicked old bird!" I says, 'you shut your trap. The neighbors'll hear you.' Then he changes his tune and calls for the peppermint."

"Peppermint?"

"Yes and hot water and smellin' salts and anisette and Jamaica ginger, and everythin' you could think of."

"My goodness! What ailed him!"

"Cussedness. That's all. He remembered the spell I had last. Thanks giving, and he was just mocking me."

"Ain't he full of the mischief?"

"Is he? Then he started in again, 'Fetch the whisky—peppermint, hot water, smellin' salts, Jamaica ginger, anisette—' When he'd kept it up half an hour I got up and threw a skirt over the cage. 'That shut him up and I finally got a little sleep.'"

"Going to keep him covered over all day?"

"It would serve him good and right."

"Might be sometin' the matter with him."

"Course there isn't!"

Nevertheless Miss Tabitha stooped down and peeped under the skirt.

"My land!" gasped Miss Tabitha, straightening up suddenly with staring eyes.

Miss Lavinia shot one glance at her friend, and with a frenzied clutch whisked the skirt of the cage. At the bottom of the cage lay a pale green egg.

The captain cocked his head on one side and leered ironically at the two old maids.

"Well, I don't wonder he was s'prised," remarked Lavinia.

"S'prised?"

"Yes, s'prised. Ain't it rather out of the ordinary for captains?"

Cayenne Pepper Vinegar.

This is an enemy to microbes, and has been sent to many of the soldiers in the Philippines. The ingredients called for are one pint older vinegar, one-half ounce cayenne pepper, two teaspoonfuls walnut catsup, a clove of garlic and cochineal to color. Slice the garlic and put the rest of the ingredients in a large glass, can or bottle. Allow it to infuse for a month, strain, bottle and seal.

Butter Taffy.

Put into a granite saucepan a cup and a half of light brown sugar, three tablespoonfuls of molasses, a tablespoonful and a half each of hot water and vinegar and a pinch of salt. Cook until brittle when dropped in cold water. Add three tablespoonfuls of butter, cook a moment, add a tablespoonful of vanilla and pour into a shallow buttered pan. When cool mark into squares.

Velvet Cream.

One pint cream, whipped stiff, add one and one-half tablespoonfuls of gelatin. Soak the gelatin in a little hot water until dissolved. One teaspoonful of vanilla, sugar to taste, one-half cupful of chopped pecans, one-half slice of candied pineapple cut up, one-half cupful candied cherries chopped. Stir all together and mold.

Corn Soup.

Open a can of corn, empty into a saucepan and cover with water. Let come to a boil, add plenty of sweet milk and cream and let stand until thoroughly heated, then pour through a colander to remove the coarse part of the corn. Return to the fire, season with salt, pepper and butter and serve with crackers or wafers.

Good Carpet Cleaner.

A good carpet cleaner can be made by shaving a pure white soap in a gallon of water and letting it boil until dissolved. To this add an ounce of ether, and scrub the carpets thoroughly with the mixture. Later rinse with fresh water.

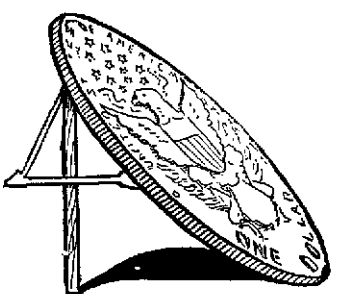

Spiced Beef.

One-half pound salt, one-half ounce of saltpetre, one ounce of salt prunelle, one pound of brown sugar. Three ounces of ground allspice, two ounces of cloves, two ounces of nutmegs, one-half ounce of mace. Press the spice well into beef and then every 24 hours for three weeks.

Roll up tight and bake four hours in a cool oven, keeping it well basted with suet. This recipe is for 16 pounds of beef.

White Paint.

One of the least-known, though one of the most effective, cements for mending china is white oil color, which is sold in tubes and used for painting. Paint the broken parts with the oil, press them in position and the operation is complete. Put aside for six weeks to dry, and neither heat nor cold nor moisture will affect it.

YOUR MONEY will always catch a bargain here in reality. We have a large list; at the same time, we have lots of buyers. See us when you want to BUY OR SELL.

TAFT NEARLY STRUCK BY TRAIN

New York, May 9.—President Taft experienced a narrow escape from possible death in Passaic, N. J., at 6 o'clock tonight.

At the Ayer avenue crossing of the Erie Railroad a westbound express train, hidden by trees until it was almost upon the presidential party, which was in automobiles, escorted by state cavalry and mounted police, dashed around a curve missing by less than twenty feet the automobile in which the president rode. The train appeared so unexpectedly that part of the president's mounted escort was unable to cross the track.

Workmen Find Old Coin.

Christiana, May 9.—The Archaeological Museum here today received a valuable and interesting gift consisting of 900 Norwegian silver coins of the epoch of Erik Magnusson in the thirteenth century. The coins which are all alike and are in an excellent state of preservation, were found by some workmen while digging in a vacant field at Bergen.

Well Pleased With Reception—City Schools Join In Demonstrations.

The Oklahoma City Business men have come and gone bearing with them good impressions of Ada and her hospitality as well as business prospects.

At nine o'clock this morning the long special bringing these representatives of Oklahoma City's business interest pulled up at the Frisco. The passengers were given a most hearty greeting not only by the business men but also by over six hundred public school children who sang their patriotic songs as only children can sing.

No sooner than the train had stopped the boosters were mixing with the crowd, shaking hands, and distributing literature.

Seeing the magnitude of the assembly which had given them welcome and especially the large number of school boys and girls, a great many were heard to exclaim: 'This is great for Ada, isn't it? This is a good showing for this place I like

The little girls who pinned the badges on the travelers did some good work quickly and nicely but were disappointed in not having a sufficient number of badges at hand to go entirely around.

The visitors following their band marched up Broadway to the City Hall and returned the same way, stopping between the Hollow building and the First National Bank. Here as the procession halted Dr. Geo. H. Bradford, chancellor of the Epworth University, mounting a water wagon, delivered an address of about twenty minutes. In course of his remarks he first expressed his appreciation of the cordiality of the reception given the boosters. Secondly, he called attention to the unlimited natural resources of Oklahoma, scattered throughout every county in the state, not confined to one section. Furthermore, he called attention to the fact that Oklahoma is second state in the union on increase of population and that in the near future she would be second to none—not even New York. He gave as some of his reasons why Oklahoma City should have the capital that the capital of the state should bear the state's name and be located in the county of that name. He added that Oklahoma City would not have the capital if they had to get it unfairly or by mud slinging. They are satisfied to leave it to the voters of the state.

About this time the special called the visitors on board, the speaker concluded his remarks by inviting everybody to the state fair next fall promising to welcome Ada as warmly as Ada had welcomed them.

The kettle drum tapped, the citizens dispersed, the teachers and students retreated to their respective schools with perfect discipline, and the boosters were gone.

CARTER PROPOSES A MOUNTAIN ROAD

Poteau, Ok., May 9.—Congressman Charles D. Carter has introduced a measure asking that the sum of $35,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary, be appropriated for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a road over the Winding Stairs and Kiamichi Mountains in LeFlore county.

The southern part of LeFlore county is sparsely settled and the taxable value comparatively small. It would be a very heavy burden on the county to build a good thoroughfare across these mountains. County Commissioner J. J. Thomas of Tallhoma realized this and took the matter up with Mr. Carter and explained to him the need of the government co-operating in this matter.

SPEED ASKS FEDERAL JUDGESHIP

Texas and Oklahoma Boundary Line Survey Opposed by Congressmen.

Washington, May 9.—Horace Speed, of Guthrie, former United States district attorney for the western district of Oklahoma, is applicant for a federal judgeship in Alaska. It is said Mr. Speed does not desire public office, but has taken this step in order that the department of justice may review his record as United States district attorney and from which place he was removed by order of President Roosevelt.

Mr. Speed contends that perjury evidence was used to bring about his disgrace. He stated today that it was vindication he was after and that the department can in no other way be induced to re-open the case.

There will be no survey of the boundary line between Texas and Oklahoma if the democratic members of the Oklahoma congressional delegation can prevent it. Representatives Carter and Ferris declare that the Stephens bill as reported from the house committee will not only saddle upon the state half the cost of such a boundary dispute but in addition might result in the loss of Greer county, the banner democratic county of the state, to Texas, in addition to other land along the Red river and now recognized as a part of the Choctaw nation. They blame Representative McGuire, who is a member of the committee, for going to sleep upon the rights of the state in this matter.

An amendment has been drawn up by the two congressmen which will be offered to the bill and which will make it optional upon the part of Oklahoma to become a party to the proposed survey. Representative Stephens said today that he is prepared to accept the amendment.

The bill as presently drawn provides for the appointment of a commission of three, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico each to have one representative and the purpose of which will be to fix old boundary lines. New Mexico also is objecting to the measure and its defeat is now predicted.

Another opportunity is to be granted the people of Oklahoma in which to make payment on government town lots. Two extensions of time already have been granted, thanks to the efforts of Representative Carter and Senator Owen and now the former is about to ask for a third extension. The purpose of the legislation will be to enable people having a monetary interest in town lots to pay for them up to the day of their resale by the government.

President Commercial Secretaries Association Gives Some Good Hints on Town Building.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 9.—The Commercial Secretaries Association has given out the following

The part that the individual citizen can and should play in the development of the community while almost as important as that of a commercial club, is often disregarded and often overlooked entirely. While it is true that concerted action on the part of the citizens of a community is the commercial salvation of a town it is equally true that each individual may assist materially in causing the tide of immigration to flow toward his city or town and the homeseeker and investor to turn their faces toward his locality for a permanent residence.

In a town in Southern California a party of tourists were recently stopping for a few days rest and recreation. The persons composing the party were all members of wealthy influential families of the larger Eastern cities, a class of citizens who would materially benefit a community by becoming residents thereof. Several of the members of the party strolled into one of the principal dry goods stores in the downtown district and the proprietor of the store on learning that his customers were strangers in the city immediately threw off the mantle of business reserve and exerted himself in pointing out to the visitors the different points of interest in the city, the best views to be had of the beach etc. and without knowing the prominence and wealth of the visitors from the East he insisted on showing the whole party over the entire city in his automobile. So impressed were the Eastern guests with the grandeur of the scenery and the salubrity of the climate that only three out of the eight returned to their homes in the East the other five buying magnificent homes in the little California town and becoming permanent residents. Thus the merchant in one afternoon did the work of a whole commercial club by bringing to his town five men of influence and capital thereby adding thousands of dollars to the wealth of the city.

Follow the example of the California merchant and constitute yourself a committee of one to explain to the visitors from the North East or West why your city or town is the best place on earth in which to live. Tell him of the vast opportunities in the way of raw material and cheap labor that await the Eastern manufacturer of the fields of undeveloped minerals that are waiting for the capital of the North and East to open the mines and the smelters of the thousands of acres of idle land that is waiting for the farmer and the dairyman of the fruits and the berries that are ready for the canneries and do not forget to tell him of the fair treatment that will be accorded him and his money in the your own state. In other words do not forget when the opportunity offers to leave an impression of the state in general and your city in particular that will remain so convincingly in the memory of the stranger within your gates that he will return and make it his home.

PIERCE MUST BE WITNESS—FIGHT FOR DISSOLUTION OF OIL COMPANIES RE-NEWED.

Shows Oil Sold in Kansas at 6 Cents and the Same Stuff in Oklahoma for 11.

Enid Okla. May 9.—District Judge Garber today continued hearings in the application of Attorney General West for a dissolution of the relations of the Waters Pierce Oil company and the Standard Oil company until May 23 in order that H. Clay Pierce, who is now said to be in Mexico may appear as a witness for the defendants. A motion asking for a continuance was granted after Attorney General West sought to introduce a deposition of Pierce which was taken in a former hearing in another case in St. Louis. Attorney H. S. Priest of St. Louis one of counsel for the defendant in his argument declared that the defendant was powerless to enforce the attendance of Pierce at this time. West agreed to a continuance if the defendant would agree to bring Pierce into court.

Judge Garber held that the object of the requirement to plead has been fulfilled when it is sufficient to inform the court of the materiality of the testimony and the absence of the witness and to inform the defendants to the extent that they might place themselves in a position to reach the requirements of the order if issued or to obviate the necessity of the order for furnishing in advance such testimony as is thought to be elicited that is to say to show wherein the order might be unnecessary in view of the tender of the defendants their willingness to come in and show that they will supply the requirements of the state.

In the discussion here it really appears that the testimony of the witness when taken into consideration with the pleadings in the case is material and that it is competent that it is sufficient to inform the defendants of his personality his whereabouts does not appear in this case.

"The court is of the opinion that the very object of the requirements of the state to set out these matters has been fulfilled or is necessary in this case and this is gathered from the discussion of learned counsel from admissions made and on file from the pleadings and from all matters appearing in the case which court has the right to take into consideration in the determination of the matter.

The holding of the court will be that the application is sufficient to warrant the issuance of an order requiring the presence of the witness Pierce within a reasonable time and that reasonable time to be determined upon the suggestion and recommendation by counsel in the case.

When the Waters-Pierce case was called in court this morning Attorney General West sought to introduce the deposition of H. Clay Pierce. This followed the filing of stipulations and the order of the supreme court denying a writ of prohibition to the Waters Pierce attorneys. Attorney Priest declared that if the court were going to take up the matter of the deposition of Pierce counsel for defense wanted time for preparation. Priest shortly thereafter filed a motion asking for the suppression of the deposition. This was eventually sustained when an agreement was reached to bring Pierce into court.

In his argument on the motion produced a map showing the division of the interests of the Standard Oil company and declared that under the Standard's operation in Kansas a certain grade of oil is sold for 6 cents when the same grade of oil is sold in Oklahoma, where the Waters Pierce company operates for 11 cents.

Weatherford, Okla., May 9.—It seems as if the people were used to democratic manipulations in our normal schools by this time as from the very first they have done nothing but raise Hall Columbia. Yet there seems to be a terrific uproar both among the students and citizens over the recent changes in the faculty here by the Cameron gang. Why all this uproar? Could you expect anything else judging from past records? Cameron our honorable preacher politician state superintendent who presides so ably over our educational interests as a ward politician over his rednosed subordinates in the back end of a saloon. He has just about that much interest in the welfare of the schools. He wants to be re-elected and has control of the board. The only question with him is who is that applicant for in the campaign? Is he a Cameron man or an insurgent? If he is a man who has not been cringing to the Cameron gang off comes his head or else he is transferred to another school compelled to sacrifice his property here take a reduction in his salary or put to some kind of work he knows nothing about.

If a man has an opinion of his own he can't hold a job under Cameron. Even if the man is very quiet about it or fails to worship at the Cameron shrine little spies are sneaking about reading minds and telling their master. These little tattlers have been spotting every fellow to perfection. Nobody was missed. Of course the lady teachers who were ousted were not mixed up with the political end of it but indirect political pulls cost them their positions. The new contracts of teachers in the Normals make them more subservient than that they can be turned out any time if they don't dance to suit the fiddler.

Prof. Burke goes to Alva. Whitcomb the best man in the state in his line is changed to mathematician at Alva. Bremer, who is a marvel in voice and instrumental music and the very soul of the music department here has been transferred to Alva to fiddle for a living and he don't know how to rosin the bow. Landrum of the expression department was completely chopped off the list as was Dowel and Glover and the Misses Vrooman. Abernathy Packard and Trimble Bohannon was changed from his work to teach German and is in almost as bad a shape as Bremer. At Edmond Prof. Bryan lost out and was transferred to Alva. All over the state this contemptible horseplay has been going on. At Alva the citizens held an indignation meeting but the only recourse is to get even at the ballot box. The Weatherford Booster.

Finds Fortune on Walls.

San Francisco Cal.—Ten years ago Henry Brink of Melrose purchased a few thousand shares of stock in an Arizona gold mine. In return for several hundred dollars he received a great bundle of green certificates handsomely engraved.

After waiting in vain for the mine to become productive and finally deciding as an investor that he was as green as his certificates Brink smiled over his loss and papered his rooms with the souvenirs of his folly.

As a mural decoration his stock was worth par. He was informed today that porcelain clay of rare quality had been discovered on the mine site and that his certificates in consequence were worth a fortune.

Promptly thereupon Brink watered his stock. That is, he soaked it and the certificates peeled off nicely. His walls are now bare but he says he will remedy that at once.

The Prodigal Uncle.
By HAROLD CARTER

It was during the second term in the penitentiary that the great plan first came into Jim Byers' head. At first it was only a thought that stole upon him during the night, while he tossed uneasily upon his plain bed; then a desire, suddenly a mighty and overwhelming passion which must be fulfilled.

When he was freed prison societies came to him and offered him help. But he refused and started on his tramp eastward with the little money that he had earned. First he must fulfill his determination.

It was 150 miles up state to the old home where his brother—the rich man—still lived. Walter had stayed at home and prospered, and was always spoken of as a prospective millionaire, while he, the outcast, the prodigal, the jailbird, the broken man, tramped eastward along the railroad line for that first reunion after 15 years of absence and silence.

It was his absolute determination to meet his brother face to face and kill him. Kill him as calmly and remorselessly as he himself had once killed cattle in the slaughter yards, because he had prospered while he was starving. What would come afterward he did not think or care.

For five nights and days he tramped along the railroad line, exulting at each remembered landmark for the vengeance which was to come to him. A dusty tramp, disheveled, torn, a few coins dancing in his pockets as he tripped from tie to tie, the knife hidden in his sleeve which was to absolve his debt of hatred. In this wise he reached the little village.

He stood still, rubbing his eyes in wonder. This his home site? Why, here was a factory town, with smoke belching from the tops of 20 tall chimneys.

Did anybody remember the old Byers homestead?

Yes, the saloonkeeper remembered it. But he did not remember Jim in his tramp's clothes, with prison pallor upon his face. It had been sold and pulled down—these ten years or more. Walter Byers? Why, that was the Byers' home, that red brick building on the hill yonder. He might get a job there possibly. Mr. Byers was always in need of hands in his factory.

Slowly Jim turned his face toward his brother's house and tolled up the hill painfully. No matter, his work would soon be over. But when he reached the gate of the garden he stood still, staring into the face of a little girl who sat there, shading her eyes as she gazed cityward.

"Is Mr. Byers at home?" and he felt the steel beat a tattoo against the bare flesh of his arm.

Father's not home yet," said the girl. There's nobody home but me."

So you're Walter Byers' daughter, are you? Have you any brothers and sisters?"

No, there's only me. You're not my Uncle Jim are you?"

She looked into his face frankly and anxiously.

No, I know you're not. Because you're so poor and Uncle Jim's rich. He's coming home some day to take us by surprise. Only you see, we're all so anxious for him to come, because father tried so hard for years to find him and we know he's making his fortune out in the west somewhere and he'll come back again."

He had become a myth, the rich uncle who was to return some day to his devoted family! Jim heard incidents of his boyhood, exploits now greatly magnified, from his little niece's lips. And they were proud of him!

For the first time since he had left the penitentiary he laughed, then stopped and drew his sleeve across his eyes. He turned away.

"Won't you wait for father? He won't be long. Who shall I tell him called to see him?"

Jim straightened himself.

"Tell him a broken man who's gone out to fight the world again, to lift up his head and look it in the eye squarely. A man who's taken his beating and learned his lesson."

He turned and plunged down the steep hill westward in the direction of the railroad line.

New York Farms.

A farm in Central New York, bought a few years ago for $15 an acre, produced two years later a crop of peas worth more than $50 an acre. This incident, considered in conjunction with the fact that many farms can be bought for even less than the value of the buildings standing on the land, is used in a bulletin by Commissioner Fearaph of the state agricultural department to indicate the possibilities of agriculture in New York.

This publication also gives the value of crops in this state for a period of 40 years, showing that New York is the fourth state in agricultural importance. A significant feature of the statistics is that while in 1875 New York raised 35,000,000 bushels of potatoes, valued at $10,985,179, last year it produced 34,850,000 bushels, valued at $26,138,000. Similarly increased value is shown in other crops, while the volume is about the same.

Budapest, May 9.—Lajos Munczy, the King of Gipsy Violinists, died here recently at the age of 63 years, leaving property of the value of about $450,000.

He had played before all European monarchs, including King Edward, and was a particular favorite of the late Empress Elizabeth, who used to listen to his music for hours at a time, and gave him many costly presents.

A great part of the violinists' fortune came from the jewelry which ladies of the Hungarian aristocracy used to tear off and throw at him when they were carried away by his passionate playing, of the wild melancholy Hungarian tunes and dances.

FRANKING PRIVILEGE MUCH ABUSED

Washington, May 9.—Senator Stone of Missouri in the senate today charged that the American Protective Tariff League, through the use of Senator Gallinger's frank, get around paying the Postoffice Department about $900 worth of postage in circulating its defense of the Payne-Aldrich tariff act.

Senator Gallinger got red in the face and said that he had given permission to use his frank for the sending out of a publication composed entirely of extracts from the Congressional Record on the tariff. He lamented the general tendency to misuse frank and agreed that the matter ought to be looked into.

Two-Pound Volumes Mailed.

The alleged misuse of the franking privilege by the American Tariff League consisted in the sending under senator Gallinger's frank about 10,000 copies of a 452-page volume weighing two pounds. The book is composed of portions of the Congressional Record in which the position of the opponents of a high protective tariff are said to be misrepresented through garbled extracts of three speeches and debates, and the whole thing is interlarded with editorializing headlines and editorial subheads which are nowhere to be found in the Congressional Record. Some of the headlines consist of five or six lines of protection argument put in the form of questions.

Demand an Investigation.

Senator Stone offered a resolution demanding an investigation into this alleged abuse of the postal laws. Senator Carter of Montana and other republicans then entered upon a typical senatorial discussion as to the dividing line between frankable and unfrankable matter, and were diverting attention with successful ease from the specific matter under complaint, when Senator La Follette fell upon the hair-splitting with a sledge hammer blow.

The Wisconsin Senator had a letter from an editor in this state in which the newspaper man charged that he received under a congressional frank a circular letter from the American Protective League calling attention to the league's book, and inclosing a fulsome editorial notice of the volume which the editor was expected to publish.

Would Inquire Into Circular

Senator La Follette's sensation put an end to the hair-splitting and the Stone resolution amended to include also an investigation into the circular referred to by Senator La Follette was sent to the senate committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, the chairman of that committee promising a speedy report on the matter.

Senator Stone stated tonight that this is too serious a matter to be put to sleep in a committee room, and that it will probably result in a resolution demanding the department of justice to investigate the affair for action in case violation of the law is found to exist.

ONE THOUSAND DEAD TAKEN FROM CARTAGO

San Jose, Costa Rica, May 9.—More than 1,000 dead have been taken from the ruins of Cartago. No one is allowed within the precincts of the devastated city except the Red Cross workers and gangs of soldiers and volunteers engaged in clearing away the debris, removing the bodies and dynamiting the dangerous buildings.

Most of the survivors of the earthquake are now at San Jose. Medicines and food supplies from the American warships are being rushed from Port Limon, but the condition of those who still remain around the city is such that extraordinary measures must be taken to provide assistance and shelter for them. Even in San Jose the residents are for the most part living in tents and wooden structures, fearing to occupy their homes, as the earth tremors still continue.

Merchant Kills Burglars.

McAlester, Okla., May 9.—J. M. Latham, a McAlester merchant, shot and killed a burglar as the latter was in the act of entering his store here early Monday morning. A man supposed to be an accomplice of the dead burglar shot at the merchant and ran away. The shot did not strike Latham.

Cards found on the body indicate that the name of the dead burglar is George Miller and that he is a metal worker from Mexico.

Latham's store has been entered by robbers several times recently. Sunday night he slept in the store and when he saw the intruder entering to rob the place fired on him with a shotgun.

Throw into cold water with a little lemon juice and let remain 20 minutes. Remove all pipes, skins and fat. Put through a meat chopper with two hard-boiled eggs, a small piece of garlic, a sprig of parsley, half a can of good mushrooms, drained, and one truffle. To this put half a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a dozen drops of tabasco, half a teaspoonful of lemon juice, a good pinch of paprika and white pepper, a little mace and salt to suit taste. Put over a fire half a cupful of the water the sweetbreads were parboiled in, with a cupful of good, rich milk. When just warm stir in smoothly a heaping tablespoonful of butter, blended with two tablespoonfuls of flour. Simmer slowly two minutes, then add the yolks of two eggs well beaten. Add the sweetbreads, but do not boil. Spread on large dish to cool, then form in any shape desired. Run through meat chopper enough blanched peanuts to make a cupful of fine crumbs. Dip the croquettes into this, then into beaten egg yolk, again into the nut crumbs, coating them well and pressing the crumbs into the croquettes well. Set them aside three or four hours to dry.

Fry a rich brown in clarified butter. Garnish with parsley and large green olives (stuffed Spanish) and cut into halves. These are delicious hot or cold.

THE USE OF CANNED GOODS

Commercial canned goods may be advantageously bought by the dozen in the autumn, and they do not seem to suffer from even a poor storage place, provided it is not so damp that the cans rust through. If dirty or dusty, the cans should always be carefully wiped before they are opened, to prevent accidental soiling of the contents.

Vegetables and fruits canned at home and home-made jellies, jams, and similar foods should be kept in dry, airy storage places, out of direct light. The cans and jars used should be of good quality, and all the usual precautions of good rubber rings (if they are used), and so on, should be taken.

Canning may also be made use of daily for temporary preservation of foods, and it is especially valuable where ice-chest facilities are not good. When making soup stock a large quantity is made as easily as a small, and the surplus may be poured, while hot, into fruit jars and sealed. Botted milk may be thus canned, and cooked vegetables which may be at the time plentiful or cheap. Mince meat may also be canned, but it will keep a long time in an ordinary receptacle if melted suet be poured over the top.

Such canning, especially of soup stock or milk, is only recommended for a few days' keeping, and every precaution should be taken that is familiar in the ordinary canning of fruit or vegetables.
